Golden Flax on Cobalt

Fresh, clean, alive! Frances Burton has captured the beauty of a summer garden in this winding design. Touches of yellow warm the cool Cobalt blue glass in lovely harmony. Note the texture change from matte white to glossy gold. Blues are the fastest growing family of colors and this blue, white and yellow story is right on track.

Pansies on Cranberry

For over 100 years Americans have been carrying on a love affair with Cranberry Glass. We've added a new dimension to our most collectible glass by applying pure gold pansies with velvety touches of cream and violet. Each flower is then touched with crystal ice for its sparkling finale. Designed by Frances Burton for all who love Cranberry Glass.

Cranberry

Cranberry enthusiasts find Fenton's Cranberry to be authentic and exceptional in quality. Made with pure gold formula the way it was done 100 years ago, and fire struck, the rich cranberry hue is heightened when encased in a layer of sparkling crystal. Another example of why Fenton is America's finest crafter of colored glass.

Thistle

A new gold based color from the glassmaker's palette. The creation of Fenton's newest color requires precision teamwork on the glass blowing shop. The small bud of gold ruby is smoothed on the end of the blow pipe before the green glass is gathered over top of it. Many reheating and smoothing steps are required to stretch the green glass carefully below the ruby bud before blowing the piece to its final form.

Plum and Vintage

True Plum is a challenge to the glass chemist, but rich and rewarding when captured in glass. Plum demands attention every step of the way; from measuring the colorants to selecting shapes that will showcase its brilliance. Like all red-toned glasses, Plum is sensitive to changes in heat, causing slight variations in color from one piece to another.

Handpainted Lilacs

An expert craftsman deftly spins a molten ring of Plum on the edge of pristine Milk Glass. Art in motion, he smooths it to an even circle before quickly paddling the piece to its final shape.

Martha Reynolds has taken this clean, white surface and used it to showcase the essence of a Lilac's beauty. Notice the subtle changes of color within each clustered flower.
