"Fields of Gold" on Rubina Verde

Rubina Verde is a historic glass that shades from ruby (rubina) to green (verde). It was named by Hobbs, Brockunier & Company circa 1886, but variations of the color have been made over the past 100 years.

The process for making Rubina Verde begins with gold ruby on the end of a blowpipe which is then cased with Sea Mist Green and skillfully handblown. The "Fields of Gold" pattern, designed by Martha Reynolds, completes this magnificent piece of art glass.

Inscribed with the signatures of 2nd Generation Family Members, Bill Fenton, Chairman of the Board, and Frank M. Fenton, past Chairman.
