Handpainted Trellis

The Artisans at Fenton have captured a white trellis in glass by using French Opalescent glass that has been blown to its final shape. Molten Dusty Rose glass is quickly spun onto the top edge before each piece is fluted and formed by hand.

Martha Reynolds designed the gold based painted flowers which sprawl happily across the lattice surface. Fired for permanence, they cool to a lovely fuchsia color. Fine art glass from Fenton.

Victorian Bouquet

Fenton designer Martha Reynolds has captured the essence of the Romantic Victorians with her beautiful floral bouquet. Antique silver bands reflecting the warm patina of well used sterling add an authentic finishing touch. This pattern fits perfectly with the current trend toward silver and Old World elegance.

the Legend of the Secret Slipper

Knights of yore returned from the crusades bearing wonderful gifts for their loved ones. Highly valued among these were the beautifully-decorated "Secret Slippers" with their long and pointed upturned toes. Because the slippers had magical powers to ward off evil and bring great happiness, they were given as tokens of the highest esteem to very special people. Fenton revives this legend through its handmade glass slipper. As the knights of long ago followed a lofty code of conduct, Fenton glassmakers follow a tradition of quality craftsmanship in every secret slipper created.

Each slipper comes with a colorful tag telling the legend of the Secret Slipper.

22 Pc. "Language of Love" Assortment

(Refer to order blank

Includes a counter sign and brochures.

Sentimental Victorians shared their deepest feelings in a special language of flowers. Each known flower had its own meaning in this delicate art of communication. A young man would send a bouquet of jonquils if he desired "a return of affection." The lady might respond with snowdrops indicating "hope", or red tulips "declaring love." If she wasn't pleased with the suitor, yellow tulips would tell him it was "hopeless love."

"The Language of Love" revives this beautiful tradition in a loving Anniversary message. Each of the flowers entwined to form a heart tells a story:

The Rose represents Love. The Ivy signifies Marriage, Fidelity and Friendship. The Forget-Me-Nots denote True Love.

This heart of love was created to represent the enduring strength in your marriage and is given to celebrate the day you were wed.
