The Butterfly represents the anticipation, energy and sense of rebirth we feel upon entering a new century. Fenton has skillfully handpainted this lovely symbol, in a stylized motif designed by Robin Spindler, on three beautiful classic shapes. The Circular Vase, Rolled Rim Bowl and Happiness Bird bring optimism and joy as we experience the rejuvenation of a New Millennium.

"Bluebird" on Burmese

This basket is fashioned from a mould designed by Fenton designer Jon Saffell for the 1999 line. Robin Spindler created the lively bluebird lighting on the windblown pampas grass. Inscribed with the signatures of 12 Fenton family members.

Each of the pieces on this page are made of our Historic Burmese glass . . . infused with pure gold to create the blushing pink color.

"Mystical Bird" on Mulberry

This beautiful amphora rests on a solid brass stand designed by Jon Saffell. It is made of exotic Mulberry glass which is handblown using a ruby core containing pure gold and covered with azure blue glass. The majestic egret and draping branches were created by Martha Reynolds.

"Roses" on Peach Crest

The melon basket mould was created in 1995. Kim Plauche' designed a delicate rose reminiscent of a Charleton pattern from the 1940's. The Peach Crest treatment was developed circa 1940 and features gold ruby cased with Milk Glass and a hand spun crystal ring.

"Tulips" on Crystal Satin

Frances Burton created open tulips that spill over the top of the shade, enticing three beautiful blue butterflies. The crystal glass is treated with a sand textured finish and then carefully painted both inside and out to develop a three dimensional appearance when lit.

Historic Collection . . . Violet Satin

Three new items in Violet Satin, Fenton's Historic Color for 1999. Development of this extraordinary color began with an examination of our Orchid transparent glass from 1927. The Fenton team added the rich lustre of satin iridescence to create a color that is not only historic, but perfect for today's homes.

Limited to one year production.
