Connoisseur Collection

For 25 years, the annual Fenton Connoisseur Collections have showcased the skills of our glassworkers and the talents of our decoration designers and artists. This year marks yet another high point, as we offer exotic glass colors and extraordinary decorative techniques. Reflecting the very best Fenton craftsmanship and quality, these pieces are truly the heirlooms of tomorrow.

African Veldt

Burmese glass, which contains pure gold, creates a perfect background for Francis Burton's eclectic decoration on this oval lampshade that is mounted on bronze hardware. A background of trees in silhouette frames the scene, which captures the majesty of these animals.

Dragonflies on Black

Stacy Williams' motif depicts colorful tropical dragonflies among stylized flowers and lush berries. Her handpainted design captures nature in the depths of sleek black glass.

C

Pearldrops

Applied pearls, shading and exquisite gold highlights make Robin Spindler's Pearldrops design a triumph of the decorator's art. This fall, regal Ruby pitcher features an applied crystal handle with a graceful arch.

Circumthread

Hot glass threading (oh, so thin!) goes round and round and round on this magnificent vase designed by glass artisans Dave Felty and Frank Workman. Only Fenton creates such a vessel.

Peacock Feathers on Favrene

Cameo artists Kelsey Murphy and Robert Bomkamp have perfected an advanced vignetting technique for sandcarving to achieve both dimension and depth. The vivid iridescence of our Favrene glass makes the intricate details come alive.

Deco Floral on Mulberry

Inspired by "les Arts decoratifs," Robin Spindler developed a floral with simple curves and a linear sandcarved motif for this elegant vase. The Mulberry color—a Fenton exclusive—demands great skill from our glassblowers. Inscribed with the signatures of nine Fenton family members.
